BERLIN FEARFUL OF STARVATION.

Threat of Economic Blockade Brings Much Alarm.

Noels Blamed for Failure to Control Von der Goltz.

Radicalism is Believed to be Gradually Waning.

BY PARKER BROWN.
BY CAREL—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—(Delayed.) Von der Goltz may be on the way back to Berlin. Or he may not. The "Iron Division" may have gone over to the Russians as a unit. Or possibly it hasn't. The German troops may be forcing the fighting with aircraft, armored cars and all the implements of ultra-technical warfare, or may be sitting idly twiddling their thumbs or perchance marching homeward.

But Berlin doesn't know. Of all the great capitals the one which is most vitally concerned goes along day after day guessing at what's going on, in the Baltic regions. The only semblance of information that it receives comes in dispatches from Holland, London or Paris, which are several days late when they arrive.

In other words, the German government is handling the situation with almost complete secrecy so far as the people are concerned. Next, the man who should be on the job now, inspecting troops and supplies, has had his one speech: "Not on strip of German territory shall go into other hands." This is bringing general denunciation on his head, as well as comparisons of the man to the troops, nearly matched by the ex-Kaiser, or to the emotions delivered by Berthold, Scheidemann and others in Italy.

NOSES NOT ON THE JOB.

But the point in this connection is that he is many miles away from his own office during his loudly-proclaimed strenuous efforts for the government to overcome the difficulties on the part of his troops. Instead of being in Mitan making the greatest possible effort to enforce orders, the trip to the Baltic is just as easy as the trip to the Polish border, where he now is, and may consider the Baltic situation more critical than the question of conditions in Silesia just now.

And with him away Berlin is scared sick over the possibility of a revolution, and a revolution is imminent. It is the chief topic of conversation everywhere, and one hour almost frantic inquiries concerning Von der Goltz and his troops.

UNSOCIALIST SOCIALISM.

This secrecy is another one of those surprisingly unsocialist things that the leftist government is doing these days.

Noels took a chance with the radicals tonight and at a late hour the indications are that the experiment, reasonably, was successful. Undoubtedly it was Scheidemann, who is working at unification of the Socialists—interceded in behalf of the thirty meetings called by the independent and bourgeois Noels and the one meeting of giving official permission in the protested gatherings called for the purpose of kicking the government full of holes. The meetings are still all over Berlin, but three of them visited were found to be proceeding in orderly manner and apparently by an agreement upon which the sanction of conditioned consent was given. Noels' plan of the three-day suppression of the independent organ Freisheit as a violation of the freedom of the press.

The halls were overflowing but the crowds and even the speakers seemed to have difficulty in showing enthusiasm.

RADICALISM IS WANING.

It may be that disturbances at some meeting or street demonstrations may result later, but so far as I can see, the socialists are not in agreement with success and that corroborates the recent statements that radicalism is waning in Germany. Last month saw the reichstag repudiated by the majority, and last week a series of prohibited meetings, but not tonight even police guards were visible at the meetings.

This does not indicate that kid glove methods are to be used in dealing with the radicals, if the find men and machine guns strike, as threatened, the government is prepared to operate the gas, water and electric plants under military direction and will do so. The total control of the 15,000 city employees who struck that if they are not back at work Thursday morning their places will be filled and the men and women who take their places will be given all the protection necessary.

BERLIN IS INDIGNANT AT OCCUPATION COST.

BY CAREL AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.
BERLIN, Wednesday, Oct. 18.—Indignation was expressed today by members of the Budget Commission of the national assembly when the national treasurer announced the cost of maintaining Entente armies of occupation and various control commissions would be from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 marks annually.

The minister added that the drain on the national finances "would eventually reset on the Entente" and expressed the hope that the size of the occupying armies would be greatly reduced.

LENINE SURVIVES ONE MORE ASSASSINATION.

BY CAREL AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LONDON, Oct. 17.—A Bolshevik assassin message from Moscow today reports that Premier Lenin received an Afghan delegation in that city October 16. This would appear to dispel the recent reports regarding Lenin, one of his assassination and another of his imprisonment.

"Last Income Free from Tax." The latest news from Leningrad indicates that it is to be expected that a general income tax will be imposed on incomes of $200,000 and up, and on capital assets of $100,000 and up. The tax will be graduated, and the maximum rate will be 50 per cent. The new law will be effective January 1, 1920.

RAINEY SEEKS REPEAL OF WAR-TIME DRY ACT.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Repeal of the War-time Prohibition Act is provided in a resolution introduced in the House by Representative John W. Rainey of Chicago.

Mr. Rainey presented the measure in this form after a conference with Atty.-Gen. Palmer who told him that it would be impossible for the President to declare demobilization at an and until after the proceedings of the peace conference.

"The resolution puts it up to the present Republican majority. If some of the Republican leaders were in earnest when they said they were willing that their leaders should have ample time to discuss the stock before constitutional prohibition becomes effective next January they should pass this resolution."

LANSING READY TO LEAVE THE CABINET.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—There is reason to believe that the President's illness averted the resignation of Mr. Lansing from the Cabinet. According to his friends Mr. Lansing, who is ill, was determined to offer his resignation to the President as a result of William C. Bullitt's revelations of the Secretary's personal views of the peace treaty. Bullitt quoted Mr. Lansing as saying of the peace: "If the American people could really understand it, it would unquestionably be defeated."

When Mr. Lansing returned to Washington he was very ill and had reached home a very sick man. If the Secretary came back with any intention of resigning, he quickly changed his mind and buckled down to the task of carrying on the government without the President. Whether Mr. Lansing at home would be practically impossible to avoid impeding the progress of the remaining peace negotiations at Paris.

BLAMES GOVERNMENT FOR SUGAR SHORTAGE.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Distribution of the sugar in the hands of the retail food distributors' executive council began yesterday. The "inexplicable receipt" of best sugar from the west will not be blamed on the sugar cartels in the opinion of Sol Westerfeld, chairman of the food council. The bright condition that Mr. Westerfeld is able to see in sugar selling for 25 cents a pound made hard to believe even that price is right.

The government is entirely to blame for this state of affairs," said Mr. Westerfeld. "An old market and a price limitation on it here. This price is so low that the wholesaler, in order to get sugar, would have to sell it for less than he pays for it when his cargo comes in."

"The Federal government should immediately buy all that is left of the present Cuban crop and raise the price limit, so that our wholesalers will distribute it."

GERMANS SWARMING TO SOUTH AMERICA.

(BY CAREL AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
RIO JANEIRO, Thursday, Oct. 18.—Among the passengers of the Dutch liner Holland, arriving here today from Amsterdam, were 495 former German officers and soldiers. Of these twenty-three will remain in Brazil, while the remainder to go to Argentina, where they will be sent to settle.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Catherine Bannister, actress, died in the home of her mother, Mrs. E. R. Willard, 1845 West Adams street, yesterday. Injuries suffered in Fresno, Calif., in 1911, Mrs. Willard says that while her daughter and several other members of her company were riding through Fresno in their automobile went into a ditch in trying to avoid another car. FAIL TO AGREE ON BARGAINING.

Industrial Conference to Renew Argument Monday.

Capital Group Submits Substitute Resolution.

Would Grant Employers Privilege Asked by Unions.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Without reaching a decision on recognition of the right of workers to bargain collectively—an issue which has been the subject of two days' debate—the national industrial conference tonight closed the second week of its deliberations. Adjournment was taken until Monday, when there is every indication that the conference will make a new start, a definite programme for procedure to that end being in process of formulation.

Withdrawing their motion made yesterday to recognize the labor-public declaration on collective bargaining, the employers took the substitute resolution which would protect their right "to deal or not to deal with men or groups of men who are not his employees" and choose by and from among them.

Amid applause and laughter of the labor delegates, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard, public delegate, asked the meaning of the "clearly-worded" resolution presented yesterday as ambiguous as "seeing things at night." She defended the right of the workers to whom they wish to speak for themselves that employees were entitled to the best possible representation.

The principle of representative government is the only issue involved in the public labor resolution. Miss Gertrude Barnum of Berkeley, public representative, declared:

"My faith is in the government of the United States and not in the employers, employees or the public alone," he said.

Miss William Wald, public delegate, said during the debate on the "clearly-worded" resolution presented yesterday as ambiguous as "seeing things at night." She defended the right of the workers to whom they wish to speak for themselves that employees were entitled to the best possible representation.

Eventually it is expected the troopers, comprising the Fifth Infantry commanded by Col. E. A. Fry, and the Fifteenth Infantry, commanded by Col. F. J. McConnell, will be sent to supervise the plebiscite to be held there.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Despite the failure of additional American troops to Europe for the ultimate purpose of the expedition, Senator Wadsworth proposed in the peace treaty formed the text of another chapter of Senate debate today on

RIGHT OF CHOICE.

Frederick P. Fish, chairman of the national industrial board, said it was that the employers should not be condemned for representing men whose representatives not chosen by and from their own employees.

"Nobody knows under what authority these troops are being sent," said Senator Brandege.

WADSWORTH'S EXPLANATION.

"I was given to understand that the dispatch of this force was due to the secret arrangement made by the American peace commission at Paris. It was intimated also that the authority for sending them springs from the fact that technically we still are at war with Germany."

Senator Nelson interrupted to suggest that the plebiscite was to determine whether Upper Silesia should become a part of Poland, and added:

"They simply want our troops there to see that there is a fair plebiscite, that's all. Unless the Senator opposes the establishment of Poland as a free country, he ought not object to this."

ATTACKING PROTECT EMPLOYERS.

Relying to Mr. Woll, Herbert F. Perkins, of the capital group, explained that the substitute resolution of his group was worded as to protect employees in their refusal to deal with a minority of their workmen who might attempt to force the entire plant to close down.

During the assertion of Mr. Leberecht that labor had taken advantage of the war to force important concessions from the government, Mr. Gompers declared labor had been instrumental in the introduction of arbitration without the consent of the employers. Woll declared this provision would destroy the railroad brotherhoods.

ATTACKING PROTECT EMPLOYERS.

Replied to Mr. Woll, Herbert F. Perkins, of the capital group, explaining that the substitute resolution of his group was worded as to protect employees in their refusal to deal with a minority of their workmen who might attempt to force the entire plant to close down.

Speaking from the viewpoint of the employer, T. F. Lores, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, told the delegates that the labor resolution had been presented and that it had nothing further to ask of the conference.

GOMPERS BACK.

After several hours of debate, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who returned to his seat in the conference at the afternoon session after a three days' illness, brought the discussion to a climax with a heated reply to L. F. Lores, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad.

Mr. Gompers, noticeably weakened by his recent illness, "the masses of labor of the United States have at last found their ability to articulate through organization and the time has come when the American people are destined to gain a fair share of the rewards of its toil."

DEMANDS UNION RECORDS.

Speaking with emotion and his voice quivering, Mr. Gompers bitterly assailed Mr. Lores for his assertion that there were elements in American labor that planned overthrew of the government. Mr. Lores, in his address demanded that the government be given the same access to the records and correspondence of labor unions that it now has to those of corporations, and that generally the same regulations be extended to the labor unions.

Adjourning without a vote on the collective bargaining issue, was opposed vigorously by the labor delegates, who declared that the resolution was a "tempest in a teapot."

Replied to Mr. Gompers, Senator Perkins, of the capital group, explaining that the substitute resolution of his group was worded as to protect employees in their refusal to deal with a minority of their workmen who might attempt to force the entire plant to close down.

Speaking from the viewpoint of the employer, T. F. Lores, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, told the delegates that the labor resolution had been presented and that it had nothing further to ask of the conference.

CONCILIATION MANIFEST.

A spirit of conciliation was manifested today in the national industrial conference.

T. E. Chisholm, head of the Railway Conductors' Brotherhood, said he saw in the resolution a desire to bring about a better cooperation between capital and labor in the meeting, and declared that in his opinion the gathering was "just getting down to business."

Announcing by the labor group that the conference had now given way to a new one, Mr. Chisholm said the new conference will be held in New York on November 11.

THE RESOLUTION.

"That without in any way limiting the right of a wage-earner to refrain from joining any association or to deal directly with his employer as he chooses, the right of wage-earners to private, as distinguished from governmental, employment, to organize in trade and labor unions, is a fundamental right of the employee to be protected by law."

PREDICT FIVE BILLION GOVERNMENT EXPENSE.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Congress will be asked to appropriate more than $5,000,000,000 for general expenses next year, Chairman Good of the House Appropriations Committee predicted today, when the House began consideration of the bill to establish a national budget system.

The only relief from high taxation, he said, was a reduction of government expenditures.

SISTER OLGA IS BATTLE'S ANGEL

Brave Russian Nun Acts as Surgeon, Nurse, Cook.

Performs Operations on Field with Crude Instruments.

White Army's Fighting is of Most Informal Type.

(By CARL—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NAVA (via Copenhagen) Oct. 16 (delayed)—Sister Olga will remain as one of my most vivid memories of the capture of Jamburg. Generals usually are the most impressive figures during a battle, but I caught sight of Gen. Glassempy, conducting the operations around Jamburg, only now and then when he scooted up or down the road in his automobile. But Sister Olga was all over the place, taking care of the wounded and saying prayers for the dead. She was nurse, surgeon, priest, water carrier, cook and everything else in the field of operations and from behind walls where they were hiding.

TANKS IN ACTION.

The British tanks could not cross on the wagon bridges, so contented themselves by settling comfortably down at the end of the bridge and dropping shells from machine guns into the town into the retreating Reds.

The White Guards had three airplanes up that swooped down on the madly hurrying Bolsheviks and dropped their bombs, knives or fuses, but the tanks were too far away of the plains to do much damage.

As the White Guards passed on in pursuit of the fleeing Reds many Bolshevik soldiers suddenly appeared from hiding places and threw up their hands and walked over to any tank that could find them and rendered. Quite a number of Reds gave themselves up to the tender mercies of Sister Olga, who put them to work carrying stretchers with the wounded or peeling potatoes in an improvised kitchen.

EGERTON TO SURRENDER.

The Bolsheviks wanted to surrender their body at all costs so they could surrender. Three or four surrendered to me, but they were a nuisance because they smoked up my cigarettes, so I would chase them away with a club and then follow them up somebody else to surrender.

It was a very informal sort of a battle. All of our White soldiers were there to conduct operations on their own hook. The big British tanks walked around like peacocks, but Constantine's men were more like a bunch of the boy soldiers of the northwest army. His father was shot in front of a stone wall and the Reds and all Constantine was out for war.

After Sister Olga bandaged his mouth she produced needles and thread and turned up two feet of Constantine's long-tailed French coat. She sewed it up with a needle and thread, too. She then sewed off and wove them on a string around their neck and went after the Bolsheviks barefooted.

We did not go into Jamburg on an armored train because the big bridge over the Luga River had been blown up by the northwest army during its retreat the first of August. The Bolsheviks made assurance doubly sure by blowing up the track just ahead of our engine, but got no particular trouble at the approach to the British tanks, that is, they forgot to blow up the wagon bridge over, which our infantry scampered in great glee, and soon we heard the rattle of rifles as the White soldiers drove the Reds out of base.

PROUD OF UNIFORMS.

The northwest soldiers are very proud of their uniforms. Some are dressed in French uniforms and many had American army overcoats. It was a mixed-up looking army and a stranger couldn't tell whether he was looking at English or German or American or Bolshevik soldiers. The men liked the foreign uniforms, but hated the British shoes, which hurt their feet because they were too small. A Russian's feet are not shaped like an Englishman's.

The Bolsheviks took the shoes off and wove them on a string around their neck and went after the Bolsheviks barefooted.

SENATE TO INQUIRE INTO WHEAT EMBARGO.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The Senate today adopted a resolution offered by Senator Owen of Oklahoma directing the Agricultural Committee to make an investigation of the embargo on wheat exports ordered by the United States Grain Corporation.

Senator Owen and Senator Grammer, chairman of the Agricultural Committee, take the position that the embargo has been laid in such a manner as to result in injury to the farmers and to the nation.

They charge that the corporation has acted in opposition to the protests of the wheat farmers.

Senator Grammer said that Mr. Barnes would be summoned before the committee and his actions investigated.

In a letter to Mr. Barnes made public today, Senator Grammer said:

"If the practices of discrimination against the farmers of the United States are continued, it can only result in underproduction and you must be willing to accept the responsibility for this injustice and blunder."

The hearings in the matter will probably start next week.

WANTS OF DISTRESS.

(BY A. P. NIGHTWIRE)

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—A warning to the members of the grain marketing system to a formal basis upon the termination of government control, June 3, 1920, will most likely be followed by distress and possibly disaster unless caution is exercised, was given by Julius H. Barnes, wheat director of the United States, at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce today.

"It is my firm conviction that everything that interferes with freedom of trade should be removed at the earliest moment," he said.

Mr. Barnes said the lifting of export and import regulations and stated that he was absolutely opposed to a continuation of the grain guarantee after the present regulation expires June 3, next.

"Price fixing," he said, "is a fallacy and a failure, and a detriment to the wheat industry."

STANFORD SWIMMERS TO BE HERE IN SPRING.CARDINALS' SHOWING AGAINST NAVY FELLS FANS WITH OPTIMISM.(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 16.—Stanford swimmers will appear in Los Angeles next spring if the present plans of Manager W. L. Ames are carried out. Over 250 men have signed up here with Ernest Branstrator, swimming coach, and training has commenced for candidates for the varsity and freshman teams. The swimmers of the men planned to go to the West Coast for their annual other long trips in view. Henry Miller, a Long Beach boy, is captain of the varsity, the last-named getting the first and the top honors.

Intercollegiate golf is another sport Stanford intends to devote its energies to in the coming year. Classes in this sport will be given in the physical training department, and the old Stanford links, existent before the war, are being rehabilitated. Fred Sherman was invited to the Manila Country Club, near this institution, in being used.

Rugby at Stanford, although officially placed in the background, will be represented by the recently organized Stanford Rugby Club. The men between the ages of 18 and 22 years old, and made seven appearances, had the game for the first time in the U.S. It was started, but from the first it was cracked. U.S.C. would have been beaten if it had not been for a strong effort by the players.

A. D. Brown, the new director of physical training here, has outlined a plan of intramural activities that will take about 20 per cent of the men students at Stanford. Competition between the various fraternities, clubs and dormitories will be the mainstay of Brown's extensive programme.

KING BLUSHES;
KISS IS CAUSE

Also See Some "Vamp Stunt" on Tour of Motion Picture Studio.

King Albert and Queen Elizabeth were witnesses of two intimate family scenes yesterday. They heard a devoted wife plead with a buxom vamp to leave her husband alone, and they felt sorry for the devoted one. They saw an impassioned lover chase a blonde around a luxurious parlor and, finally trapping her in his embrace, kiss her in the presence of royalty. The King blushed.

It happened during the staging of several scenes at the Ince studio, where King Albert, Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold were watching the production of a film.

King Albert was only a few feet away from the kissing scene and when the resonant smack was planted on the fair one's cheek, the Queen was watching her royal husband and it was then that the roseate blush spread over his face.

For Belgium, the Mayor extended the welcome of the city to the royal visitors, while many women burdened with bouquets of flowers. The Mayor's remarks were brief, but they were accompanied by Mr. William Nye, special agent of the State Department at Washington, who was charged with their safety and welfare, and Mr. Nye failed to appreciate the fact that we had a schedule to keep, and that in order to keep the schedule and visit the places as planned our time would necessarily be limited at the stops we made.

Our first stop was at the Ince studios. Upon our arrival there, I personally said to Mr. Ince, "Please, Mr. Ince, and he replied, "Five minutes, Mr. Ince," and he replied, "Five minutes will be ample." Mr. Ince had a short programme arranged, which took not to exceed five minutes. At the conclusion of this, I prepared to leave the party away and our schedule planned, but Mr. Nye suggested that we remain and see how pictures were made, as King Albert had expressed a desire to see the motion-picture industry.

STILL THREE STAY.

After considerable more than our allotted time was used up, I suggested that we would have to go, so Mr. Nye said, "No, the King and Queen are interested in this, and they can stay here as long as they want to."

Later, I instructed my secretary to speak to Mr. Nye, and tell him that we would have to go, and incidentally that we would have to go, so Mr. Nye said, "No, the King and Queen are interested in this, and they can stay here as long as they want to."

"Five is Right."

After the din of cheering arose the voices of 200 young women singing "America" and a male quartette singing "La Brabançonne," the Belgian national air.

After the freedom of the city had been granted to the royal party, Queen Elizabeth was presented with many gifts, among them a beautiful ostrich plume fan in the Belgian colors, made at the Cawston Ostrich Farm.

Queen Elizabeth then pinned upon her Los Angeles wavy hair the Order of Queen Elizabeth, a decoration in recognition of the relief work they have done in Belgium's cause. Those who were decorated were Mrs. Anna Constance Lynch, Mrs. Michael Creamer, Mrs. John Treasor and Mrs. Catherine Watson. While bestowing the decorations Queen Elizabeth asked Mrs. Williamson Rodman to head the Belgian relief work in this city and is now touring the Orient. Mrs. Rodman was one of the first three American women decorated by Queen Elizabeth in America.

After the presentation of the decorations, silver plates were shown on the Queen by way of compliment. The members of the reception committee and other dignitaries were presented to the King.

The only banquet carried by the Queen during the day was one of courtesy, given by Mr. Anita Baldwin.

The royal party then passed along an avenue of smiling faces and waving palms to the waiting automobile, in which the visitors rode through the city's streets.

Members of the King's party who arrived on the special train are: Albert, King of the Belgians; Prince Leopold, Duke of Brabant and heir apparent to the Belgian throne; Countess Ghislaine de Carman-Chay, lady in waiting to the Queen; Lieut.-Gen. Jacques comte de Gheyn, comander-in-chief of Third Division; General Sir E. M. Tilney, aide-de-camp to the King; Maj. Count G. D'Urbremont, adjutant of the court; Maj. Leo Berard, secretary to the King; Chanoine Gobin, representative to the Queen; Lieut.-Col. Nolf, personal physician to the King; Lieut. R. Goffinet, officer of ordinance of the King; four Belgian correspondents and a large group of Americans traveling with the King.

Among the Americans traveling with the King are: Brand Whitlock, American Ambassador to Belgium; and Mrs. Whitlock; Maj.-Gen. William M. Wright, U.S.A.; Admiral Andrew T. Long, U.S.N.; Jefferson Gaffey, secretary of the embassy of the United States; Col. Patterson, U.S.A.; aide to Maj.-Gen. J. M. Nye, chief of special agents of the Department of State.

ALONG KING ROW.

Charles J. Carrasco, of Ontario became the King's bodyguard.

That is, he drove his automobile alongside the King's train and chatted with His Majesty as the latter stood on the platform of the observation car.

Mr. Carrasco, who is a Belgian, was invited to the city to see the doughty ruler, and his course intersected that of the King's train at Aliso street. Recognizing His Majesty as he stood on the observation car, Mr. Carrasco drove alongside the train and greeted him. A conversation ensued in which King Albert expressed his appreciation of America's welcome to him and to his party.

Fifty ex-service men, including four American aces, greeted the King and party when they arrived at the Goldwyn studio.

Capt. Nelson Heideman, wearer of the D.C.C., and of the Croix de Guerre, and the only officer, besides Col. Charles M. Whittlessey, who remained on the field following the terrifying experiences of the "Lost Battalion" in the Argonne Forest, worked his way up front a bugler to a captaincy in the old Seventh Regiment, later the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry. His home is in Santa Ana.

Crown Prince Leopold, known to be a lover of mechanics, paid no attention to the visitors until he was looping the loop and performing tailspins for his amusement. Instead, he spent his time examining Officer Joe Finn's motorcycle and asking Detective Harry Raymond about police business.

State Department Man Holds Party at Ince Studio.

The following formal statement was issued last night by Mayor Snyder:

In answer to inquiry as to why the King and his royal party were unable to attend the luncheon prepared for them at the Maryland Hotel, I wish to state that although the King and his party were the guests of the city of Los Angeles, they were accompanied by Mr. William Nye, special agent of the State Department at Washington, who was charged with their safety and welfare, and Mr. Nye failed to appreciate the fact that we had a schedule to keep, and that in order to keep the schedule and visit the places as planned our time would necessarily be limited at the stops we made.

Our first stop was at the Ince studios. Upon our arrival there, I personally said to Mr. Ince, "Please, Mr. Ince, and he replied, "Five minutes, Mr. Ince," and he said command in chief, and his orders were carried out. He said they had to be.

KING TO GET CHANCE TO SEE REAL INDIANS.

AT HIS REQUEST ARMY WILL SEND PARTY TO GALLUP FROM FORT DEFIANCE.

(BY P. F. NIGHT WIRE)

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Oct. 17.—American Indians of Fort Defiance, Ariz., will be sent to Gallup, N. M., tomorrow, where they will meet King Albert and Queen Elizabeth, Col. A. E. Saxton, Southern Department adjutant, announced today.

The King and Queen were especially eager to see the Indians, and it was at their request the arrangements were made to send the party to Gallup.

(BY P. F. NIGHT WIRE)

MERED, Oct. 17.—The finest train ever had," was the statement made yesterday by King Albert after he had seen the Mariposa grove of big trees and commented on the wonderful scenery. He never seemed to look at the trees. Asked what most impressed him of all he had seen on his trip across the mountains the King pointed unhesitatingly to them.

There are mountains in every place," he said, "but no such trees as these."

The King's basket luncheon in the grove was as democratic as could be imagined. A special basket had been prepared for him, but he waved it away, and said, "I will eat what the others do."

His Majesty sat on the steps of a log cabin porch, studying a guide book or wandered about chatting with members of his suite and Americans attached to the party. He had a long ride around the winding mountain roads, however, and the sharp curves on the very brink of almost bottomless precipices seemed to have no terror for him. She shared his luncheon with a barefoot Indian.

Prince Leopold, after a night spent in the open in a camp on the mountain, ran about gaily, and seemed never to tire of talking with the government rangers, learning woodcraft from them.

The tour then took the royal party along La Brea boulevard to Hollywood, where school children scattered flowers in the streets and high school girls stood outside of attention while the Belgian rulers passed. It was here that Maj. B. F. Day of the Royal Engineers, who looks like King Albert, was besieged by a number of girls who hooted at him.

Passing through Tropicana, Glendale, and Eagle Rock, the King and his party were given a hearty reception by the citizens of Los Angeles. The welcome in Pasadena was featured by a reception arranged for them by the school children, who were standing at points of vantage along Colorado Street. In front of the Maryland Hotel, the children, wearing the Belgian colors, formed living human chains on the lawn. As the King and Queen approached, the children sang the Belgian national anthem in English.

MANY DISAPPOINTED.

The royal party was scheduled to stop at the Hotel Maryland at 12:30 o'clock for luncheon, but the time taken up by the tour prevented the luncheon and the King and Queen and their party boarded their special train

NO ARREST.
The Bolsheviks in Russia have ordered the arrest of Admiral Koltchak, but do not seem to be able to even arrest his progress. The admiral is coming in, but not to give himself up.

LARGE CHECKS POPULAR.
The Secretary of the Treasury made out a check the other day for the trifling sum of $2,448,206,171.53. The $3 cent was possibly for a nickel's worth of peanuts; but the rest is hazy. It was said to be the largest check ever drawn, but father may beat it if he tries to pay the family shoe bill in a lump sum.

IL AND MILK.
Strange things are happening. Down at the industrial conference at Washington the labor representatives are finding that the Rockefellers are about the best friends they have. When it comes to pouring oil on the troubled waters they have a full portion and young John also indicates a fair supply of the milk of human kindness.

BRIGHT BLUE SKY.
California may safely extend her usual hospitality to the self-chosen president of the Irish republic, but this need not go to the extent of exchanging the holdings in Liberty Bonds for the issue of securities of a "Free Erin." It is not advisable to loan money to every guest. If blue sky is to be collateral we might go into business ourselves.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN.
When alien agitators come into a town and begin to clamor for what they call the right of free speech it is time for some folks to get out their earmuffs and ammonia guns. Free speech should give a man the right to talk to himself, but not to make raucous sounds offending the sensitive ears of others. Let the strangers whisper and not pelt and thus save a lot of hell rent.

REIN AND BRAUN.
There is a shortage of over forty thousand school-teachers in the country. Lots of them have put their noddies in moth balls and gone into industries where the thumb and fingers or the biceps count far more than mere brain work. When a man can get $7 a day for driving miles through a shingle there isn't much sport in teaching the young idea how to shoot for ninety bucks a month. There are a lot of white-domed college professors who would like to take the places of some of these steel strikers who do not know whether Cato is a food or a drink.

NO ADVANTAGE.
The shipyard workers are after the nationalization of the shipbuilding industry, although it is hard to find a reason from their own viewpoint. Certainly after its experience with the railroads the government wouldn't raise the wages of the shipworkers. They are already about the best-paid workers of their class. The government has been operating the Postoffice Department from the beginning, yet the postal employees are far from being highly paid. While Uncle Sam may pay a fair wage, he will never again pay an extravagant one—at least to any large number of employees.

BY PARCEL POST.
The government has established motor truck routes to the extent of nearly five thousand miles to expedite the parcel-post service. This helps out in the extension of the idea of community buying. In the cities families will co-operate in buying direct from the farmers and on their part the farmers will go co-operators in securing their supplies from the city. Uncle Sam's Postoffice Department takes the place of a few of the middlemen. If this is worked out all over the country some of the wrinkles will not incommode the public to any material extent. The government already has thousands of trucks and the men to operate them. Let the railroad workers look to their jobs. Another generation may not need them. We may be sending ship anchors by airplane mail by that time. Anyhow, we will be sending a lot of ham and eggs by motor post.

HOW ABOUT HOME RULE?
A dozen of the agitators among the steel strikers at Gary are to be deported as alien anarchists. They were not citizens of America; they were not connected with the steel industry; they were not even workers, yet they were able to hoodwink a lot of ordinarily sensible American workingmen into accepting their leadership and aiding their incendiary programme. Is it any wonder that employers must steadfastly oppose any form of collective bargaining that goes beyond their own plants and industry? It is absolutely necessary to protect some of the workingmen from throwing away their own birthrights. Said the conditions under which the carpenters are working on a Los Angeles contract to be determined by a committee of plumbers and steamfitters from San Francisco or a bunch of Bolsheviks from Moscow? Some of these folk who are clamoring for home rule for Ireland should concede a little home rule for the individual workingman in America.

PARLOR BOLSHEVIK.

"Too many Americans," observes the New York Times in a recent editorial on industrial unrest, "woefully lack Americanization." The editorial was occasioned by a Bolshevik parade which was broken up by the police. The Times (New York) pointed out that, while a great majority of the five thousand paraders were foreigners, there was also a sprinkling of American parlor Bolsheviks among them. It added that in this country "there is a fine native crop of amateur Bolsheviks and anarchists, revolutionaries." There is even a school, still open, which teaches in the name of social science the doctrine of social upheaval.

And New York is not the only American city in which these parlor Bolsheviks congregate and propagate their vague revolutionary theories. We have them right here in Los Angeles, toying with the red terror—with the nonchalance of children playing with matches. There are too many powder magazines lying about the country to permit such reckless disregard for the public safety to continue. The time has arrived when society must organize a fire department to protect the public against the damages wrought by inflammatory ideas. In combatting error, as in fighting disease, an ounce of prevention works wonders.

Mr. Taft, in one of his recent articles, paid his respects to the parlor anarchists. He said that they are the meanest, the most despicable of all the foes of American institutions. They clothe their little ideas with big words and send them forth like misshapen children to become public charges. Some of the doctrine which they teach are born of pure devilry. They are careful to keep within the limits of the law; but they counsel others to commit deeds from which they would themselves shrink with terror.

Some of these well-dressed anarchists accept the nihilist formula that before a new order of society can be formed the present order must be swept away. They send that doctrine forth, backed by their own title to respectability, and they quiver with secret pleasure when they read of the violent disturbances which it occasions. Lenin and Trotsky are admired and extolled by this class of daintily-clad imbeciles who are outwardly clean, but act inwardly by a strain of cat-like ferocity and a love for bloody debauchery. They have read something of Nietzsche, a little of Marx and some of them have been subscribers to the Emma Goldman magazine, "Mother Earth."

They write little brochures in which they say that direct action may be expedient. They painted halos about the heads of the Irish tenants who murdered the land owners. They subscribed to the funds for the defense of the McNamara, declaring that the Times Building had been wrecked by a gas explosion and that the money lords were trying to railroad to the gallows innocent men. They contributed to the defense of Tom Mooney, one of the most dangerous anarchists the Coast has ever known; and they gave both their money and their moral support to the conspiracy to discredit the District Attorney of San Francisco and secure Mooney's release on perjured testimony.

Senator Lodge and the "bitter-enders," as Reed, Borah and Johnson are called in Washington, made the Shantung amendment the main object of their drive. They hoped to make an objection to a part of the treaty defeat the whole. The real test of the opposing forces came over that vote. Senator Lodge met the most crushing defeat he has encountered in his political career, the kind of defeat that forecasts retirement from public life. The position of the "bitter-enders" is an unenviable one. Senator Reed has been practically repudiated by his Missouri constituency. Senator Borah has seen the handwriting on the wall and has announced that he expects to retire from the Senate at the end of his present term. Senator Johnson is continuing his forlorn hope to win a Presidential nomination. A spoiled child of political fortune, he doesn't know how to take defeat gracefully like Lodge, or philosophically like Reed. He will probably be a bitter-end in the political arena, as he is now in the Senate.

A vote will be taken next week on the Johnson amendment to give the United States six votes in the assembly of the League of Nations. But it is generally considered at Washington that the vote on the Shantung amendment indicates pretty clearly what the action on Senator Johnson's pet measure will be. Not a single Senator who voted against the Shantung amendment has expressed himself as favoring the Johnson plan.

The sting was taken out of the Senate opposition when Italy and France declared themselves in favor of the treaty without amendment. The formal ratification of France is withheld until the last details are arranged for putting the treaty into effect. The "bitter-enders" declared in their speeches a month ago that the treaty was not acceptable to any country but Great Britain. They asserted that neither Italy nor France would ratify it if they were assured that this country would support them in their opposition. But events of the last three weeks have proved them false prophets. Italy was dissatisfied with the Shantung concession. France was disappointed because the French commissioners had not succeeded in advancing the eastern frontier of the country to the Rhine. But neither permitted dissatisfaction with a part to defeat the whole.

Replying to interpellations of the Chauvinists in the French Chamber of Deputies concerning the failure of France to get the Rhine, Representative Tardieu said: "It was a case of choosing; and when one chooses he must sacrifice something that he desires." It augurs well for the future peace of the world that the same spirit has actuated ratification in France, Italy and the United States. None of the three is satisfied with the whole of the treaty as it is written. But each recognizes that it creates relations that are vastly preferable to those which existed before the war. Each has made either written or mental reservations concerning conditions which it hopes to be able to remedy through action in the League of Nations after the war passes.

This spirit will make the league an active factor in the political and industrial lives of the free peoples of the world. It will at once occupy a place that The Hague tribunal could never reach. And it is to be hoped that the debate over the interpretive reservations will not be unduly prolonged in the Senate; for the League of Nations will begin to function just as soon as the French government gives official notice of the ratification of the treaty and and peace officers are emblems of an old tyranny; and they are encouraged in their anarchistic sophistry by the ills of the parlor Bolsheviks.

Certain civic clubs and social science circles in this country are little more than stagnant pools where the carriers of social poison breed. Their members seek to be enlightened on the new thought of the day and they make social lions of the apostles of Bolshevism and anarchy.

The Men's City Club of Los Angeles recently organized a function at which the principal speaker was Upton Sinclair. And the Women's City Club, not to be outdone, invited Job Harriman, defender of dynamiters, to address them. Sinclair makes a specialty of painting the beauties of socialist government. He sketches a society that exists only in his hectic imagination and labels it Russia under Lenin. He turns his face resolutely against the facts of the case and asserts that Bolshevism is the real liberty. And the audience before which he orates gives to his doctrines a semblance of respectability. One would imagine that Harriman's record in Los Angeles as attorney of the dynamiters and the ghastly failure of his socialist experiment at Llano del Rio would be sufficient to damn any project that he indorsed; yet these women of Los Angeles went to hear him, applauded him and, by their example, gave to his projects the prestige that is necessary to enable him to garnish a new crop.

Agitators of the type of Foster, Sinclair and Harriman are tireless in their activities, and their red mercenaries never sleep. If they are to be given the right of way in social science circles they can do insatiable harm. They denounce all forms of capitalism; and their hearers think only of big corporations and great fortunes. But in the eyes of the Bolsheviks and the I.W.W. all forms of personal possession represents capitalism. To them the owner of a house and lot is a member of the capitalist class. They would be the first to strip those parlor Bolsheviks of everything they possess. What a blessing it would be for the rest of the community if those philosophical anarchists could be herded together and forced to live for a term of years in some remote place as members of a Bolshevik colony!

FATE OF TREATY AMENDMENTS.

By the decisive defeat of the Shantung amendment in the Senate on Thursday the day is cleared for an early ratification of the peace treaty. Interpretative reservations have been offered by the "mild reservationists" and some of these will probably be adopted; but they are not intended to alter the text. The proponents of these so-called mild reservations have expressly declared that they will support no reservation requiring submission to the other signatories before the peace treaty would become effective.

Senator Lodge and the "bitter-enders," as Reed, Borah and Johnson are called in Washington, made the Shantung amendment the main object of their drive. They hoped to make an objection to a part of the treaty defeat the whole. The real test of the opposing forces came over that vote. Senator Lodge met the most crushing defeat he has encountered in his political career, the kind of defeat that forecasts retirement from public life. A spoiled child of political fortune, he doesn't know how to take defeat gracefully like Lodge, or philosophically like Reed. He will probably be a bitter-end in the political arena, as he is now in the Senate.

Too cowardly to take part in any physical revolt against society, they sow the seed that germinates in ignorant minds until a harvest is reaped of incendiarism and murder. They are a class of idlers living upon fat incomes, generally inherited, and they denounce the industrial system in which their own wealth was accumulated.

William Z. Foster, organizer of the steel strike, which is costing those who took part in it $1,500,000 a day in wages alone, is a typical parlor Bolshevik. He is not a steel worker, but a writer of I.W.W. propaganda. He preaches direct action, incites others to burn and slay, but is careful that he shall himself commit no overt act. Because he has never thrust with a dagger or fired a bomb he is permitted at liberty. But the seed of revolution is in weak minds and disordered brains until a Guitteau and a Czolgosz are born. The Starr has many important exclusive features which make it unique among phonographs and revolutionize the art of reproduction.

The Starr's "singing throat of silver grain spruce" is based on the same acoustic principles applied to the violin and the piano. It is the ONLY phonograph in the world with this valuable feature, which means so much in the production of pure tone.

STOCK SHOW OPENS TODAY.

Exhibition Has Attracted Noted Entries From all Parts of Country.

With thousands of livestock entries, a dog-show in which 500 animals will compete, a society horse show, a harness and running race meeting and an elaborate poultry display, the Los Angeles Livestock Show, the greatest event of its kind ever held in Southern California will be open to the public this afternoon.

The big exposition occupies forty acres and is being conducted under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and twenty-two other civic and business organizations in the city. It will continue until October 26. There is every indication that a large crowd will attend this afternoon. The street railway companies have made preparations for 100,000 visitors.

The livestock department is of national importance and has attracted entries of all descriptions from every section of the United States. Exhibitors from all over the country will be present, among them some of the best known livestock experts. The various breeding organizations have made the show a convention center and almost every hall and auditorium in the city has been reserved for numerous social and business gatherings to be held in connection with the exhibition. The Exposition buildings will be the scene of many gay festivities, the directors having arranged entertainments and amusement features for the benefit of the visitors.

UNLEASHED TO BE SHOWN

One of the attractions of the horse show will be the daily exhibition of Uhlans, the famous trooper of the world said to be the greatest horse that has ever lived. He is the holder of probably a dozen world's records and his owner G.L.G. Billings, of New York and Santa Barbara, has refused to sell him at any price. Uhlans was loaned to the King of the Belgians by Mr. Billings and was ridden by the monarch while visiting in Santa Barbara. This will be his first public appearance since his return to the King's stables. Uhlans will not compete for any of the prizes but will be shown daily by his owner.

Scores of other noted stallions will be represented at the horse show, among them the best polo and exhibition animals from San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Coronado and this city. Mrs. Anita Baldwin, owner of the Santa Anita Ranch, will exhibit her steeds that won championships at the San Francisco Exposition and other great shows and the Diamond Ranch, owned by P. E. Lewis II, will be conspicuous with its Arabians. Stallions. The Sierra Vista Stock Ranch is also one of the exhibitors.

The harness and running race will bring together the most pretentious assemblage of sulky performers and turf specialists that has gathered in California since the historic Santa Anita racetrack closed several years ago. The directors of the exposition have offered $60,000 in purses for the races and there will be sweepstakes other prizes and bonuses to be contested for. More than 200 racing horses have been shipped from the Eastern and Middlewestern racing centers to compete with the animal world in this section and it is certain that there will be more than 300 in all. The harness races have attracted the best drivers from the Grand Circuit tracks, dozens of which are known the country over for remarkable speed and form. Many noted owners and drivers have come with them and, as a result the Los Angeles meeting will take on the aspect of a Saratoga or Louisville turf gathering.

DOG SHOW FEATURES

The dog show is not the least interesting of the many attractions, inasmuch as more than 500 blooded animals have been listed from every part of the country. One or two fancy animals have been shipped from London to participate and the honors won here will amount almost to international classification.

The poultry, goat, sheep, rabbit and similar exhibits are too numerous to describe in detail but they will all be a part of the immense livestock exhibit. The greatest number and breeding centers in the United States will be represented in this department and every breed and description of domestic animal will be on hand. James J. Jeffries, former champion pugilist, the Fu-Tuck-a-Nu-La Ranch, owned by Mrs. E. N. Whitley; the Diamond Bar Ranch, the Merritt-Bowers ranch, the Santa Anita Rancho and Anaheim breeding farms among the well-known California exhibitors and there will be hundreds of equal reputation from East, North and South.

PLATE PRINTING OLDEST PROCESS.

Discoveries Bring Art Preservative Back to Original Method.

The oldest is the newest. As in most important industries, new processes and new methods in the printing art extending over four centuries have brought the trade completely around the circle until this page of the Times is reproduced by the "block" or plate method—the first note used by the originators of the "art preservative".

Progress in the art of printing, while involving a multitude of inventions, discoveries, methods and processes, has been marked by less than a half dozen great steps which has gained it its present perfection. Although the Orientals claim to have made impressions from blocks and stones on parchment and like substances as early as 1475, it was not until the fifteenth century that it was in use in Europe. For many years engravings were made from which book pages were printed. The process was slow and so expensive as to render it of little use, some about 1485 either John Gutenberg, German, or Lourenco Jansson, of Holland invented movable blocks of letters cut in wood which could be used to spell words and thus greatly simplified the art.

Again for many years the growth of the industry was slow and brought forward only minor improvements. Various materials were used for type and experiments extended over a period of three hundred years until David Bruce, in New York, made the first successful type matrix in 1858. This was the beginning of casting of duplicate fonts or sets of letters and providing printers with an assortment which could be procured at a reasonable sum. Henry Barth, a Cincinnati man, greatly reduced the price of the type when he perfected an automatic type caster in 1886.

Just before this invention, or in 1866, the greatest strides in type and type-setting of all time was made when Otto Mergenthaler demonstrated in the competing rooms of the New York Tribune that it was possible to set type by machinery. This was accomplished by the machine in unison.

UNCOVER BLACK HAND PLOT?

Ralph Powell, former sergeant of police at Long Beach, will appear in Judge Craig's court on Monday, at which time his attorney, J. R. G. Swaffield will argue on a demurrer to the second complaint against the officer. Powell and H.M. Holbrook, also a former Long Beach police officer, were accused of extorting $70. from S. Franco, a San Pedro confectioner, with the understanding that they would not arrest him and a woman on a charge of violating the Long Beach rooming house ordinance. They were accused in a second count of bribery. When Holbrook's case came up for entry of plea, he was not in court and it was learned later that he had left the state, having been previously released on bail. He has not been seen here since, according to the officers.

HANDLEY FLAYS "SENATE HUNS."

Denounces Attackers of League of Nations.

Asserts They "Make us Look Like Slackers."

Calls it the Greatest Document Written.

that the Covenant of the League of Nations is the greatest instrument ever written by the hand of man, that it is bigger than any one political party and all political parties combined, and that its ratification by this country will mark the accomplishment of America's second great purpose in entering the world war, was the declaration of Lorin A. Handley, president of the Board of Public Works, Los Angeles, in an earnest address before a large audience at the Ethical Congregational Church, under the auspices of the Ethical Brotherhood.

Mr. Handley made a strong point of the fact that he had no criticism of the men who sincerely questioned certain portions of the League covenant, but declared that the arguments set forth against it by leaders of the opposition were not worthy of senators of the United States.

The speaker characterized the assertions of Hiram Johnson to the effect that the League is an instrument to preserve war rather than peace as unqualifiedly false and declared that the junior senator from California, in his tirades against the league, appeals not to the thinking and reasoning powers of his audiences, but rather to their baser qualities, to race prejudice in general and in particular to the Irish blood in America.

QUALITY ASSURED

Mr. Handley referred to the equality of nations assured by the League, making the world safe for the smaller countries; to the abolishing of secret diplomacy for the first time in the history of the world, and to the limitation of armaments. He pointed out that the United States Congress had voted for armaments $19,000,000,000 during the past two years and that if America is to stand alone outside the League of Nations, people must continue to bear this burden. Mr. Handley also touched upon the provision in regard to government control of munition production, which he declared would prove a check to war, encouraged by personal greed.

Article 10 is characterized as the Monroe Doctrine of the world, guaranteeing the political and territorial integrity of all nations of the earth as the American instrument.

Again for many years the verses use today in every news paper office in the world—the Linotype—a combination typesetter and type caster.

The linotype gave birth to a new branch of the printing trade and linotype operators have been the kings of the nations of the western hemisphere. In this connection the speaker also referred to Article 21, which states positively that nothing in the provisions of the League shall be interpreted to interfere with such instruments as the transform the noisy, dirty lintotype room into a stenographer's parlor filled with feminine key-pounds.

FLY DOUBLE TROUBLE

Edward F. VanderVeen, who met with double trouble when he was taken down with the influenza, has been falsely made and stated, he said the instead of violating the tradition in regard to entangling alliances, which dates back to the time of Washington, the very purpose of the League is to prevent entanglements—that it does not infringe one iota upon the power of Congress, despite declarations to the effect that it creates a super-state and annuls the rights of Congress, and that it in no way interferes with domestic affairs.

PREVENTS ENTANGLING.

The speaker took up a number of the objections which had colored him been falsely made and stated, he said the instead of violating the tradition in regard to entangling alliances, which dates back to the time of Washington, the very purpose of the League is to prevent entanglements—that it does not infringe one iota upon the power of Congress, despite declarations to the effect that it creates a super-state and annuls the rights of Congress, and that it in no way interferes with domestic affairs.

MR. HANDLEY RIDICULES

the suggestion that the League is a totalitarian scheme to dominate the world and asked his audience to attempt to picture the other world powers sitting at the peace-table while Great Britain establishes a world empire.

"Opponents of the League are making us appear as slackers in the eyes of the world," declared Mr. Handley in conclusion. "But I for one do not believe that the American people will ever permit the Huns in the United States Senate to join with the House of Commons in defeating the purpose of the greatest instrument for peace in the history of the world."

Among the witnesses who called are Mr. W. G. Goggin, Mr. Frank C. Farren, Mr. A. G. Grant, Mr. A. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon; Mrs. Isabelle Fieberman, Anton Rojas and Deputy Sheriff Coates and Bell, the Italians have moved away and remained silent regarding their knowledge of events that led up to the murder and killing of the deputy marshal.

At the time of the arrest of

Franco by Deputies Coates and Bell, word reached the officers that their lives were in danger if they continued their investigation at Vernon. Following up this information, officers found a man who, it is said, heard Franco say, "If Blandell ever comes across my track I'll kill him."

Among the witnesses who called are Mr. W. G. Goggin, Mr. Frank C. Farren, Mr. A. G. Grant, Mr. A. F. Wagner, county

autopsy surgeon; Mrs. Isabelle

Fieberman, Anton Rojas and Deputy Sheriff Coates and Bell.
